

PREVIOUS PAGE: Perfectly situated on a sandy Lake Michigan beach, the home boasts an outdoor shower and changing room. For those too timid to brave the cold waters, a footbath will keep the sand on the shore where it belongs.

ABOVE: The large prep island in the kitchen faces the dining room, living area, and the lake, so the cooks are never isolated from the guests or family members. A farmhouse sink, stainless steel appliances, and a huge dining table complete the functionally beautiful space. An extra large kitchen pantry helps to store bulky children's items like high chairs and booster seats.

RIGHT: The center portion of the home features a great-room with timber frame construction and exposed beams, more than two stories high.

The stone fireplace with its stone chimney in the family room rises almost to the peak, offering a stunning view of the interior.
