

The main floor master/guest suite with a barrier free shower is part of the plan to make the home barrier free and ensure that the homeowners will be able to enjoy the home for a great while.

The hallway leading to the bunk room over the garage has built in shelves, closet storage, cubbies and a day bed that serves as a kids' media alcove.

Scott Christopher Homes

Scott Christopher always knew he wanted to be a builder. With great respect for his father, a veteran in home construction, he pursued the same career. He earned his Bachelor of Science in construction management and supervision from Western Michigan University, and entered the workforce as a carpenter to gain practical experience. In 1982, combining his education, experience, and things he learned from his father, he started his company, Scott Christopher Homes, aiming to give his clients the best homes in the area.

In an industry where clients are often left feeling frustrated at the end of a project, Scott Christopher Homes separates themselves from the others by focusing on providing the client with a great story to tell.

"I have been blessed with a servant attitude and take great satisfaction in providing unmatched service and client care," says Christopher. "My focus is on the client...if it isn't in his best interest, it isn't in ours."

To meet the needs of discriminating homeowners, Scott Christopher Homes begins each project with a true cost proposal. By beginning with a detailed plan that meets the needs of the homeowner, there is no room for unpleasant surprises, hidden costs, or delays.

To ensure no project takes longer than necessary, strict schedules and strong work ethics get things done on time or ahead of schedule. Additionally, each project is supported with a highly accomplished site superintendent, skilled carpenters and a dedicated office staff who ensure clients expectations are met or exceeded. This team structure allows clients to get into a Scott Christopher Home faster and without compromising on quality.

Scott Christopher Homes currently has projects underway in Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Holland, Pentwater, Northport, and Petoskey. Typical projects for Scott Christopher Homes begin at 1 million, with completed projects in the excess of 15 million.
